Dear Sirs/Ladies, What are you doing? Putting a megacity in the Cambridgeshire countryside, thus ruining the latter? Vitally, WHERE WILL YOU GET ALL THE WATER? Everywhere I look, I hear of aquifers, streams and rivers drying up. The Milton sewage plant was only recently upgraded, for £20 million, why waste that? Just to move it where there is no infrastructure for it? Total waste of money, ruining at least four villages in the process. Not to mention the possible legal costs when said villages start suing for loss of amenity. Not to mention the Marleigh development fiasco, when they presumably withdraw or sue on finding themselves in the middle of urban sprawl and a sewage complex. Does anyone really want all this? Yours, Fardijah Freedman [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] PS I have seen urban sprawl in America - it's awful
